1 PREAMBLE

1.1 Introduction

The Social Science Infant Syllabus covers 14 topics. The syllabus lays the foundation for understanding, appreciation and application of social skills, cultural awareness and community involvement. The learning area seeks to equip learners with essential life skills covering activities that enhance the learner to become a patriotic and responsible citizen. The syllabus covers the social history, heritage, cultural being, guidance and counselling, life-skills, religious practices and inclusivity. It promotes the development of Ubuntu/Unhu/Vumunhu through the nurturing of important virtues of life such as respect, tolerance, sharing, caring, love, volunteerism, hard work, honesty, communication and teamwork.

1.2 Rationale

The Infant Social Science syllabus promotes pride in local cultures, customs and traditions. It promotes cultural values, respect and understanding of diverse perspectives through the exploration of cultural sites, artefacts, celebrations and story-telling. Social Science fosters personal hygiene, self-care and responsibility. It instils values of citizenship, community participation, tolerance, discipline and environmental stewardship. The syllabus develops essential life skills in learners to enable them to adjust and suit well in the changing social and physical environments such as home, school and community. It creates synergies between schools, communities and enterprise (industry). Learners are given opportunities to relate theory to practice and practice to theory, thus bridging the gap between classroom knowledge and practical life. The learning area is significant in inculcating Ubuntu/Unhu/Vumunhu attributes, patriotism and volunteerism. It gives a sense of positive self-image and cherishes diversity among learners.

The syllabus enables learners to develop basic skills, knowledge, values and dispositions such as:

- Assertiveness

- Problem solving
- Decision making
- Critical thinking
- Leadership
- Communication
- Self-management
- Managing diversity

5 METHODOLOGY AND TIME ALLOCATION

5.1 Methodology

The Infant Social Science syllabus adopts the spiral approach, beginning with the pupils' immediate environment, broadening to an exploration of his/her wider community and finally extending to the wider world. Learners need to develop appropriate knowledge, skills, values and dispositions. The teaching and learning process focuses on the development of cognitive, socio-emotional and physical domains through participating in planned activities. The Social Science learning area depends upon the use of play-based methods whereby the teacher initiates the learning as a facilitator, while pupils engage in play. These include some of the following:

- (a) drama, role-play and simulation
- (b) songs/rhymes and dance
- (c) educational tours
- (d) discussion
- (e) case studies
- (f) puppetry

- (g) gallery walk
- (h) research
- (i) experimentation
- (j) discovery
- (k) e-learning
- (l) story-telling
- (m) collaborative learning
- (n) gamification
- (o) creative arts and design
- (p) games

5.2 Time allocation

For adequate coverage of the syllabus, it is recommended that 4 periods of 30 minutes per week be allocated per grade from ECD A to Grade 2.
